

Evolution: Science or Imagination?

Evolutionists constantly claim "Creation is Religion, Evolution is Science." Yet their own testimony convicts them of fraud. Science, according to their own claims, is supposed to be testable, demonstrable, repeatable, certainly not least, "falsifiable." By falsifiable, we mean that, if the claim is false, it is possible to test it and demonstrate that it is false. I doubt that I could count the times I have heard an evolutionist assert that Creation is not science because it is not falsifiable. (Incidentally, the word does not really exist, you must guess at how to spell it.)

Webster's New World Dictionary defines "imagination" as "the act or power of forming mental images of what is not present." Now, consider these interesting quotes by evolutionists:

In tracking the emergence of the eukaryotic cell, one enters a kind of wonderland where scientific pursuit leads almost to fantasy. Cell and molecular biologists must construct cellular worlds in their own imaginations... Imagination, to some degree, is essential for grasping the key events in cellular history. - B.D. Dyer and R.A. Obar, Tracing the History of Eukaryotic Cells, Columbia University Press 1994, pp. 2 & 3

Even with DNA sequence data, we have no direct access to the processes of evolution, so objective reconstruction of the vanished past can be achieved only by creative imagination. - N. Takahata, A Genetic Perspective on the Origin & History of Humans, Annual Review of Biology & Systematics, 1995

The real question is whether we have enough imagination to reconstruct their lives [the lives of early humans]. - Robert Blumenshine, paleoanthropologist of Rutgers University in a 1989 U.S. News and World Report cover story.

The only certainty in this data-poor, imagination-rich, endlessly fascinating field is that there are plenty of surprises left to come. - Michael Lemonick, "How Man Began" Time, March 14, 1994

Obviously we cannot test, demonstrate, repeat, or falsify things that are merely imagined. These experts do not claim imagination is required to do cell or human biology (because those are sciences). But, imagination, not science, is required to "grasp cellular history," achieve "objective reconstruction of the vanished past," and "reconstruct" the lives of early humans. Remember, all these "stories" conflict with known laws of science. Summarizing: "Creation stories in the Bible, which are all consistent with known science, must not be called science. However, evolution stories are good science, though all of them conflict with known science, and they can be achieved only by creative imagination in a wonderland of data-poor, imagination-rich fantasy."

Thanks to Frank Sherwin for these imagination-rich jewels of evolve science.

DINOSAUR ERROR

The dinosaur discovery reported in CSA News, Volume 14(6) Nov/Dec, 1997, contained an error. On page two, column 2 we reported "Even a team of Creation Scientists has returned with an enormous amount of unfossilized dinosaur bone, including even the skull of a Tyrannosaurus Rex!" The error is that the skull was not that of a Tyrannosaurus but of a type of Hadrosaur. Thanks to Hugh Miller for calling our attention to the error. Much of the material they brought back was "petrified," but some also contained bone and other biological compounds that should not be present in fossils that are "millions of years" old. Anytime you read an article or hear a talk by a discoverer of dinosaur remains, you can put him/her on the spot by insisting they evaluate the "fossil" for bone, protein, blood, and other biological compounds. Also there are many finds of other animals that contain biological materials that could be Carbon dated. We do not trust Carbon dating results, but, if the artifact can even be dated, it will show it can be no more than a few thousand years old rather than the millions often claimed. If the researcher will not examine his find for biological materials or subject it to Carbon dating, you have every reason to be skeptical of any age claimed for it.

Health of CSA Leaders

In the Nov/Dec, 1997 issue of CSA News we reported, "Both Glenn Kailer and I [Tom Willis] have had less than banner health years." We received a number of cards, letters, E-mail, etc. about Tom's health as a result of that comment. People seemed to glean the impression that Tom is still experiencing poor health. We should clarify that Tom had a congenital aortic valve defect that gradually developed scar tissue and eventually calcified nearly closed. Apparently there is no "therapy," only replacement with a man-made (St. Jude's) valve, or tanned pig or human valve, which are normally only done on "older" patients. The surgery is very aggressive requiring that the heart be opened, old valve carved out and new one sewn in as they are closing the heart. Blood clots are not uncommon, and Tom got his in the form of a stroke in the brain stem that affected facial and eye muscles.

Audio/Video Tape of the Month:

What Does It All Mean

Personal Thoughts On 24 Months of Lectures

by: CSA Speakers

Each CSA Speaker took 10 or 15 minutes to "close" a 24 month "seminar," i.e., two years of Basic Sessions at CSA meetings. Each spoke his own heart, the talks were not coordinated in any way. We weren't sure how this would come out, but I watched the video a few days ago, and I was very pleased with the total message conveyed. TW

Audio Tape (A0158): $5.00

Video (V0158): $13.00 (Includes postage)

Video Special:

The Young Age of the Earth

with: Robert Gentry, Walter Brown, Ph.D., and others

Response to this video is so positive, we are extending the special another two months. There are several excellent series of creation videos, but this is undoubtedly one of the two best and maybe the best, single video ever filmed. Excellent on site footage, easy to understand diagrams, pictures and explanations, and lots of difficult-to-explain-away science.

Special: Jan/Feb 1998 Price: $20.00 (includes postage)

A Special New Book:

That Their Words May Be Used Against Them

by: Henry Morris, Ph.D.

Based on 50 years of research reading evolutionist literature, Dr. Morris has given us a tool that may be unequalled. Two thousand nine hundred quotations from over 1000 evolutionist authors, from over 200 books and 900 journal articles from 200 different journals! But there is more! A CD-ROM is included with all the quotes, and a search engine, enabling you to find and grab quotes and insert them in your own articles, slides and transparencies! A truly great resource!

Special: Mar/Apr 1998 Price: $22.00 (includes postage)

Because of double vision and instability Tom wore a patch and walked with a cane for several months. Hundreds of people were praying and support from the real body of Christ was enormous. Tom's brain "compensated," and nearly all muscle control returned, as well as essentially normal vision. The heart valve remains noisy and requires rat poison to thin the blood, helping prevent further clots. Other than those minor "thorns in the flesh," still being a bit out of shape, and occasional instability, Tom's health is probably better than it has been for a number of years.

The report on Glenn Kailer is less favorable. Glenn has endured constant foot infection for 12 years. Continuous antibiotics have been hard on his organs and body. He has now lost all kidney function, and virtually all sight. This week he is having surgery with a hope of restoring some sight in one eye. Infection is still rampant and antibiotics continue taking a serious toll on his organs and body. Amputation is imminent, and other serious problems are predictable. Fervent and effectual prayer is the only real hope for an improved long-term prognosis. Glenn's E-mail: Kailer@compuserve.com.

PS: Glenn continues to minister. He plans to give a seminar in Salina, Ks. next weekend.

A New Look at Radiometric Dating

Research on the 7 Most Used Dating Methods Shows Earth Less Than 7000 Years Old!!!

by: Glenn Kailer

Glenn will review a research paper by Charles Lucas on the seven most famous dating methods. The paper simply notes one "trivial" assumption used in these methods: that the earth is billions of years old. When that assumption is removed, the methods all, clearly and unequivocally, date the earth at no more than 12,000 years, probably much less!! A little bit technical, but incredibly important and valuable information!

The Canopy, the Moon, the Tilt of the Earth's Axis and a Pre-flood Ice Age

A Minority View Well Defended

A Video from the International Conference on Creation
by: Greg S. Jorgensen

Greg combines evidence from meteorology, several other branches of science and from history to argue for a pre- and post-flood Ice Age, a pre-flood global-warming canopy, 5 degree shift in the Earth's axis and fast pole shifts (earth roll-overs). He uses these theories to explain many puzzling phenomena. (T94011)

THE ICE AGE

Where does it fit in Earth History?

by: Larry Rink

Some of the tales which seem most confusing to folks trying to understand history are those about the the Ice Age(s). People seem convinced, without any evidence, that the Ice Age occurred long ago and took eons to happen. Hopefully, after Larry's talk you will realize that: there was one main Ice Age, it happened not very long ago, and it is probably not possible for it to have lasted longer than a few hundred years.

Distribution of Supernova Remnants in the Galaxy

A Video from the International Conference on Creation
by: Keith B. Davies, B.Sc.

The number of Supernova Remnants observable in the Galaxy is consistent with the number expected to be formed in a Universe that is 7000 years old. The resulting problem of the "missing Supernova Remnants" is well known and is recognized by astronomers who work in this field. (T94020)
