Creation - Evolution

Which is Science, Faith, Myth?

Simple, But True, Answers

By Tom Willis

In CSA seminars and in Real Scientists Just Say NO! (see page 3), we remind you that some 500 years ago science replaced deductive philosophy with induction, verified by experiment and observation. It is quite superior, but still, if you believe any scientific theory, you do so on faith. Real science is about the present operating character of the physical universe and involves propositions that are precise statements of phenomena that are thought to be universal, e.g., Newton's 3rd Law of Motion, "Every action force has an equal and opposite reaction force." Thus the backward action force of the jet and rocket exert a forward force on the bodies of the craft.

But, man has no way of observing every action force, or knowing whether he even knows of every type of action force. Therefore, if you believe the 3rd Law, you believe on faith, because we are incapable of ever proving it to be true. However, every observation of such forces has confirmed the 3rd Law and none have proved it false. Therefore we classify belief in the 3rd Law as a Category I faith, a reasonable faith that has been tested countless times and is consistent with all relevant observations.

Category II faith is belief held with little or no evidence (most religions and "The Chiefs will win the Super Bowl"). Category III faith is a belief held in spite of the evidence (If I persist in believing "All cars are green" after you have shown me red cars is really delusion, even if I call it "Science!")

Likewise, Evolutionism is a set of beliefs ...

1. That matter has either been here forever, or self-created in the past. But neither belief can be directly tested and both violate one or both of the 1st or 2nd Law of Thermodynamics. To be here forever, matter must violate the 2nd Law which clearly states that there would be no energy left in a universe that had been here forever. To come into existence in real time violates the 1st Law: "Matter can be neither created nor destroyed." A person may believe in cosmic evolution, but his conviction is blind faith, not science, because it requires belief in things that have never been observed, cannot be tested, and violate the most valuable laws of science that we have.
2. That gravity is adequate to explain the existence of stars, galaxies and planets. But, such phenomena have never been observed and belief in them requires suspension of belief in the known fact that the gas laws are vastly more powerful than gravity and they tend to push matter apart.
3. That Life formed spontaneously in nature. But, such belief violates 400 years of experiments that led to the Law of Biogenesis, "Life comes only from life, and [reproduces] after its kind." Not one experiment in the history of man has come even close to producing life. Belief that "Nature produced life" is not science, it is a Category III faith.

4. That, from "first primitive life" [all life is complex, there is no such thing as "primitive life"], evolution produced the entire "Tree of Life." This myth is "supported" only by experiments that produce trivial change in existing life. Petri dishes containing bacteria, for example, are lined up and subjected to chemical treatment.

Some or all of the dishes may end up with bacteria resistant to the chemical. Evolutionists shout slogans like "Evolution is just change, change is everywhere, evolution is a fact." The claim is absurd, Evolution is not "just change." Evolution is the belief that bacteria can, and did, change into men, and anything/everything else! In observational science, everything "changes," you, your car, your son, your wife, all change, but they do not evolve. We each also develop resistance to many bacteria over the course of our lives, but do not sire apes, nor was your great grandmother an ape! From thermostats to humans, science shows that some "adaptation" can be created into systems, but, major changes are never observed, in houses, bacteria or men. It may be summarized this way: to get from "simple life forms" to all the types of life we see today requires millions of new biological structures, skin, scales, arms, wings, hearts, kidneys, etc. Occasionally when we lose a structure, Man builds (Creates) a poor copy of the original, e.g., an "artificial heart or arm." But there is not one ounce of evidence that "Nature" has ever produced even one new biological structure in the entire history of the Earth.

Evolution, unlike science, is never observed. It is pure mythology, a Category III Faith, a belief held in spite of the evidence! Evolutionist may be intelligent and/or "well educated," but we all know such people can also be deluded! Empirical science shows the delusion followed rejection of Truth ("Nature built life") just as promised by God in 2Thess 2:10, 11.

Real Scientists Just Say NO!

By Tom Willis

Help your family and friends understand Creation/Evolution in a way that they will never be deceived again! The book examines stereotypical evolutionary "reasoning" rather than dwelling on the latest "discoveries." There are many good books, but this one will greatly reduce the number you need to read. If you don't agree, return it in good condition for a refund.

133 large pages, soft cover: $15.50

Evolution Exposed by Roger Patterson

The author's strategy is excellent. He simply took three widely used biology textbooks and put "Note-Its" on every evolution sales pitch page. He then sorted and collated them under a manageable number of headings and then discussed and refuted them. He did a commendable job, coming up with a very readable and useful book. Junior High up.

300 pages, soft cover $9.00

Genetic Entropy & The Mystery of the Genome

Dr. John C. Sanford, Cornell, Univ, holder of many patents in genetic engineering, including the gene gun, has written a truly readable and powerful book demonstrating that the facts of mutations make evolution impossible. Mutations are destroying every species on Earth, very rapidly! They are improving nothing! This destroys evolution's primary story. Must read.

*Reality vs Theories of Relativity
Science or Philosophy? Part I*

By: David Penny, BS Physics

A brief history, Aristotle to Galileo, of Man's view of Motion and the Universe, modified by Maxwell, Michelson-Morley, Lorentz and Einstein. Definitions of key terms as well as supporting/refuting experimental evidence will be covered in this and in Part II. The author feels the theories of light transmission, general and special Relativity have no conclusive proofs and several clearly falsifying experiments and observations. The whole jumbled enchilada is falsely used as Proof there is no God, but, in Part II, we learn that better science presents some amazing evidence for the Biblical view of Cosmos History.

*Reality vs Theories of Relativity
Science or Philosophy? Part II*

David Penny, BS Physics

The key postulates of and conclusions derived from, special and general relativity are examined in the light of experimental evidence and observed phenomena in space. Relativity is shown to be contrary to reality, untrue, poor science. Einstein's theories of Relativity are shown to actually be philosophical Relativism. They became popular and Einstein idolized because atheists like Bernard Shaw, in the early 1900's, recognized they supported the Hegelian view that there are no absolutes, claiming that motion, time and space are all relative to observers.

A true scientific view of matter, time and space supports the Biblical view of creation, that the universe exists since day 6, and operates consistently on fixed laws... absolutes. If we were to pick a science winner, Mach's Principle, where all the matter of the Universe serves as a universal frame of reference, is closer to the truth than current theories of relativity.
